

Veronika von Messling, Dr. med. vet., is Director of the Veterinary Medicine Division at the Paul-Ehrlich Institute, the German Federal Institute of Vaccines and Biomedicines, in Langen, Germany. She obtained her veterinary degree and her doctorate degree in veterinary virology from the Veterinary School Hannover, Germany. After postdoctoral training with Roberto Cattaneo at Mayo Clinic in Rochester, MN, she was Assistant Professor at INRS-Institut Armand-Frappier in Laval, QC, and then Associate Professor at Duke-NUS Medical School, Singapore. Her research interest lies in characterizing the pathogenesis of respiratory viruses, especially morbilliviruses and influenza, to develop novel prophylactic and therapeutic strategies.